The hollow fellow

This is the story of a little fellow who was hollow and therefore had to invent himself: decide what his eyes, nose, ears and colours would be like...

Thinking about it all was great fun, but also a bit tiring. When it finally decides to sleep on it and wait, the little fellow disappears!

So, what did it end up looking like? What exactly is it? How are we going to find out?

Let's talk about...

Hard days! They happen and we can't run away from them. There's no way to stop them and, for that, the best we can do is learn to recognise them, understand how they make us feel, accept them and normalise them, as they are part of us and our story. This is a tender and moving book for everyone – children and grown-ups – to help deal with the harder days and the feelings that come with them.

ABOUT US

ZERO A OITO was founded in 1999, in Lisbon, and since then it has earned an important place in the Portuguese publishing world.

We started as a company specializing in children's content but in 2016 we extended our target to both middle grade and adult audiences.

Acting with determination in three major areas - books, magazines and custom publishing - ZERO A OITO features a wide range of products and projects for its readers. We put a lot of creativity, love and commitment into all of our projects. Our mission is to show that books are our best friends for life and that they can keep us company at all times.

Happy reading!
